The Demise and Burial of Maj. G. W. Kelso, of the 9th Tenn.

The death of the one whose name heads this article was a man in whose bosom dwelt the purest emotions—a gentleman in every sense of the word, an accomplished officer and a true Christian. Maj. Kelso departed this life at the residence of Mr. John G. Brazelton, near this place, on Saturday night last after lingering 15 weeks.—His disease was Chronic Diarrhea.

The subject of this notice, when the war broke out, volunteered as a private in the county of Haywood, in the Western District, and as a soldier in ranks deported himself in such a manner as to call forth universal praise.—His "brethren in arms," having the utmost confidence in his integrity and ability, elected him to the high and responsible position of Major. To say that he acted his part nobly and gallantly, we need only refer to the battle-field of Perryville. On the memorable occasion of the 8th of October, 1862, when the desperate charge was made by Maney's Brigade, no officer in the Confederate army acted more bravely than did Maj. K. During the battle the Lieut. Col., who was in command of the 9th, was wounded, consequently it fell upon Maj. K. to lead on the regiment against the minions who were pouring forth their shot and shell among the sons of the South who drove the dastardly cowards before them like the hurricane the leaves of the forest. True to his men, true to his country, and true to his God, the daring Major bore aloft the glorious instincts of the devoted patriot, and amid the dreadful carnage he was ever mindful of those high prerogatives devolving upon him.

His funeral obsequies took place on Sunday evening. Not having the number of companies required for the military escort, the Provost Guard, under command of Lieut. James, 3d Confederate Regiment, attended the funeral to pay respect due to their deceased brother in arms. The military pall-bearers were composed of Col. R. M. Cox, Commandant Post, Capt. J. W. Butler, Post Commissary, Lt. Sam'l L. Gannaway, formerly of the 6th Tenn., Col. March and Green Brazelton, of Franklin county. Everything was conducted with great solemnity, and the last that remained of Maj. K. were consigned to the narrow limits of the tomb, there to remain until Gabriel's trump shall summon him to the portals of the skies, there to bask in the blissful sunshine of God's own kingdom. Peace to his ashes!

Friends nor physicians could not save, His mortal body from the grave; Nor will the grave confine him here, When Christ his Saviour shall appear.

We, the Senior, promised in Sunday's issue, to indite something in regard to our Atlanta trip, incidents, &c. Owing to a press of business in the office, and the small space given to Local matters, we are compelled to abandon the idea of "spreading ourselves" as we would want to do. Suffice it to say that we spent an agreeable time while tarrying in the city of the South, for we look upon Atlanta as being a "head and shoulders taller" in point of go-aheaditiveness than any other place in Dixey, and when the war is over, and our Independence acknowledged, it will be, emphatically, the "Happy Land of Canaan." Its denizens are the right sort of Southern folks and are daily toiling for the great cause of Southern Rights and Independence.

During our stay we called on the Editors of the Southern Confederacy and Commonwealth. They extended to us great courtesy, and we were highly pleased with them in every particular. They are working men, and publish most beautiful, able and interesting journals. Long may they flourish.

Fire.

About one o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was given. Soon we discovered the residence of Geo. F. Engleman in flames. Most of the contents were saved; also one of the buildings, although not more than ten feet apart. Houses belonged to H. T. Carr.

We had the pleasure of meeting with Jas. Russ, Esq., formerly Editor of the Shelbyville (Tenn.) Expositor, last Wednesday, when on our way to Atlanta. Mr. R. is one of nature's best, and always full of hilarity and mirth. He had in his charge two beautiful and accomplished young ladies, daughters of that gallant officer, Maj. Hawkins, of Nashville, but now of Shelbyville, taking them to Rome, Ga., there to be educated. Our travel with him, the Misses H's and Mr. A. J. Hall, was indeed highly entertaining.

Chattanooga is a "sweet-scented" place, according to the opinion of a fellow-traveler whom we met with at that point a few days ago. We beg leave to differ with our friend, for it is too full of "blue mud," and "straw-bed accommodations at only one dollar for a night among crawling reptiles! If all that is sweet, heaven save us from any more smells in that burg. Distinguished men will differ!

A friend tells us a story of a little girl in Sabbath school who wanted her mother to buy her a Kitten-chism, as the Cat-exchism was too hard for her.

Special attention is called to the Card of Mr. E. M. Edwards, Commission Merchant, Atlanta, Georgia.

Yesterday was a dark, damp, disagreeable, dismal, dirty day.

The Negro Army

The idea seems to be to raise the first negro army at the North. This is better than we expected. Our fear was, that it would be deferred until the army could be gathered in the South—which might never happen. But 150,000 negroes, in addition to those we have, are just the things we want. With negroes at $3000 a head, our soldiers could not make a richer prize than the capture of such an army.—Richmond Whig.

Thy Will be Done.

Searcher of Hearts!—from mine araise
All thoughts that should not be,
And in the deep recesses trace
My gratitude to thee!

Hearer of Prayers!—oh, guide aright
Each word and deed of mine;
Life's battle teach me how to fight,
And be the victory thine!

Giver of all!—for every good
In the Redeemer came—
For raiment, shelter and food,
I thank Thee in His name.

Father and Son and Holy Ghost!
Thou glorious Three in One!
Thou knowest best what I need most,
And let Thy will be done.

Federal Orders.

HD. QUARTERS U. S. FORCES,
Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 1, 1863.

ORDERS:—

The General Commanding at this Post desires to express his admiration of the zeal evinced by certain secession families in administering to the wants and alleviating the sufferings of the Confederate wounded to-day brought to this city.

Great praise should be awarded them for their devotion to the suffering soldiers of that cause to which they are so enthusiastically allied.

Desiring to give them still greater facilities for the exercise of that devotion which to-day led them through the mud of the public streets of this city, unmindful of the inclemency of the weather, and desiring farther to obviate the necessity of that public and flaunting display, which must be repugnant to the retiring dispositions of the softer sex: the General directs as follows:

Surgeon Thurston, Medical Director, will select 45 of the wounded and sick Confederate soldiers this day brought from the front, to be quartered as follows:

Fifteen at the house of Mrs. McCall; fifteen at the house of Mr. Sandy Carter, and fifteen at the house of Dr. Buchanan; all on Cherry street, immediately below Church street.

As it is desirable that the sick and wounded should not be agitated by the presence of too many persons, no one will be admitted to the rooms in which the wounded are, except their surgeons, without passes from Surgeon Thurston.

Each family above named will be held responsible for the safe delivery of the Confederate soldiers thus assigned, when called for by the proper military authorities, under penalty, in failure of such delivery, of forfeiture to the United States of their property and personal liberty.

By order of

R. B. MITCHELL,
Brig. Gen. Com. Post.

JOHN PRATT,
A. A. Gen'l.

HEAD QRS. U. S. FORCES,
Nashville, Tenn. Jan. 20, '63.

In pursuance to orders received from Department Headquarters, it is hereby announced that no Passes will be given to go outside the Picket line of this city except to persons of known and undoubted loyalty to the government of the United States,

By order of

Brig. Gen. R. B. MITCHELL.

HEAD QRS. U. S. FORCES,
Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 20, '63.

It has been ascertained at these Headquarters that persons receiving passes for their own private use, have been guilty of loaning them to parties other than those to whom they are issued, for the purpose of passing the picket lines of this post.

All persons thus loaning or borrowing in future, will be arrested and tried as spies; and, if found guilty, shall pay the extreme penalty of the military laws.

If any person, male or female, black or white, shall attempt to evade the picket line, or pass, or attempt to pass said line without proper authority, they will be dealt with as spies; and upon any effort on their part to escape arrest, they shall be shot on the spot.

All officers in command of grand guards at this post are hereby required each day to instruct the guard in pursuance of this order.

By order of

Brig. Gen. R. B. MITCHELL.

EXPRESSLY FOR THE DAILY BULLETIN

RICHMOND, Feb. 15.

The Fredericksburg correspondent of the New York Herald of the 12th, says Holders of cotton advanced on the 11th, asking 92 to 93 cents for middling.

The Herald commenting on a report that the people of Charleston leaving that city in expectation of an attack, advises them to steer clear of Savannah, as it thinks the Federal force between Charleston and Savannah sufficient to attack both simultaneously.

The New York Herald knows Hooker and his soldiers are ready to seize the opportunity even of partial hardening of the mud, to open the road to Richmond.

John Van-buren in a speech before the democratic association at New York, in view of the determination of the seceded States not to return to the Union, said: "Our friends the democrats in Illinois, who propose to hold a Convention, will find it a barren task because the South is determined as long as their armies have power to resist and put us down, this war must go on, and those who would attempt to stop it will be carried away by the torrent.

It is stated that Mercier has prepared a paper to be laid before the government, embodying the views of Napoleon.

The U. S. frigate Sabine has arrived at New York, after an unsuccessful cruise in search of the Alabama.

A Havana letter of the 4th says the Florida left Nassau on the 31st, fully equipped for a long cruise.

Confederate money is willingly received at par in Nassau.

The Herald announces the arrival of the Europa at Halifax, but says nothing of the reported friendly mediation of Napoleon.

The N. Y. Post says that parties have been identified in New York who have organized themselves into a body to demoralize the army and nation, by diffusing journals and literature of a peculiar kind. The rich men of New York are to furnish the money, and the reactionists, editors of the World, Express and Journal of Commerce, the brains.

An enormous fund is to be raised for undermining the confidence of the soldiers and government.

Reinforcements for Rosecrans are constantly going up the Cumberland river, and it is believed he has accumulated sufficient stores at Nashville to make a forward movement possible.

Elizabeth Jewel, of Montgomery county, Va., has now living two hundred and ten descendants, viz: eleven children, one hundred and nine grand children, one hundred and nine great grand children, and one great great grand child. The old lady is in her eighty-eighth year, hale, hearty and vigorous, and bids fair to live many years yet.
